

Open a window to the world

Do you think it is necessary to travel to have a truly international CV?

We believe that an international university is also an interconnected university. For this reason, at CEU Valencia we are partnering with institutions around the world, to implement different learning modes in all our university degrees. These bilateral projects aim at bringing the diversity of the world to each and every one of our courses.

The COIL modules result from the collaboration of our faculties with other international centres for the development of common virtual projects. We jointly design these lines of work and integrate them into the study plans, ensuring that they adapt to the CEU methodology and the training needs of our students.

This is the essence of what we call internationalization at home. It has been devised for our students but also for our teachers. Because international experiences can also happen in a classroom!
